Transformation overview

Advancing and realizing enterprise transformation with technology through the finance function

Organization challenges and expectations

How do I deliver results juggling all of this?

Desired digital finance outcomes

Optimized workforce

- Upskilling and reskilling existing talent
- Automating processes to allow people to focus on high-value work

Enabled decision-making

- Quickly turning data into insights for management
- Providing timely access to reliable data
- Continuously improving data maturity

Modern stakeholder experience

- Driving a digital journey that improves customer access and experience
- Enhancing the workplace for staff
- Providing access to tools through mobile phones for finance staff to leverage on the go

Efficient stewardship

- Automating functions to increase transparency and accountability
- Aligning spend with strategic objectives and outcomes

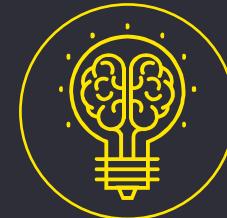

What personas exist in your finance organization?
How do they drive transformation?

Persona Needs

Different Personas have different needs, but all can benefit from Technology

Catalyst

Help the organization deliver complex change programs and strategic initiatives

Oracle

Help the organization make better decisions

Concierge

Enhance the customer experience for stakeholders who consume financial information

Curator

Collect, process and deliver transactional information

Guardian

Steward

Optimize the use of funds across the enterprise

To achieve the desired outcomes and optimize each finance persona a digital foundation must be built

1

Leadership

Your organization strategy is your technology strategy

Articulating a strategic vision of how technology drives improvement and optimization in the finance function and across the enterprise is key

2

Tech Stack

Design and Build technology assets that deliver new experiences – A connected landscape of innovation microservices, new technology ecosystems and a data and automation platform

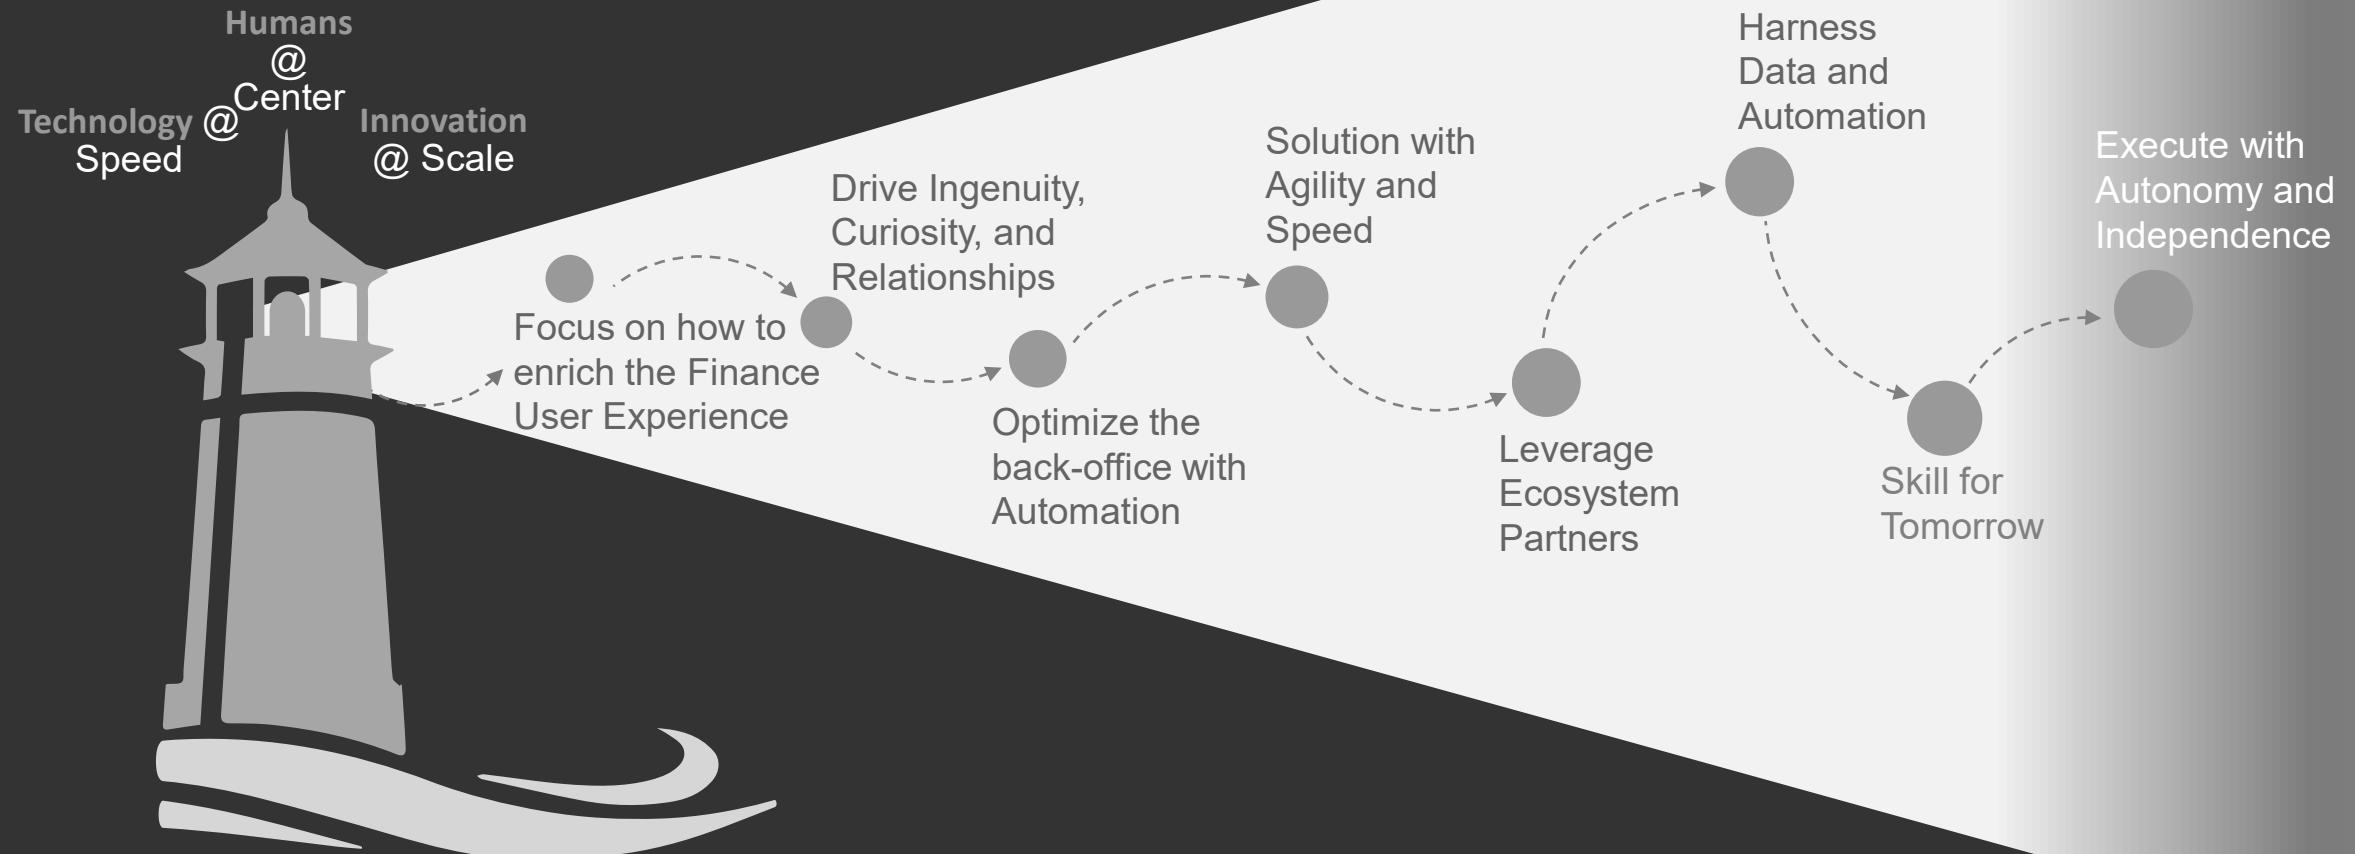

3

Supercharged delivery

Build transformation teams resourced with innovative people, emerging technologies and enterprise-wide data

Enable edge development and commit to agile execution

A Digital Foundation enables new drivers of value

Next steps

To drive technology transformation in your finance organization and agency

1

“Establish the case for change”

Assess your foundation for delivering transformational value

2

“Envision your Digital Foundation”

Develop a vision for the technology model and position this vision across the agency

3

“Start the transformation”

Activate the new mindset, rally your team and start your technology transformation

EY | Building a better working world

EY exists to build a better working world, helping create long-term value for clients, people and society and build trust in the capital markets.
